EXPECT SEA TO BEGIN GIVING UP ITS DEAD TODAY

Lakehurst Officers And Men Steeling Selves Today

Lakehurst, N. J., April 7—(AP)—Officers and men at the Naval Air Station, as well as the widows and families of the ill-fated Akron's crew, braced themselves today for the final strain—that of seeing rescue workers returning with bodies given up by the cold Atlantic.

Counting on the calculations of those well versed in drowning incidents, those at the home port of the giant airship which plunged into the ocean early Tuesday expect today will mark the first successful attempt to recover many of the 71 bodies still missing.

Meanwhile, preparations went forward for holding the court of inquiry which will investigate the Akron disaster beginning Monday.

CHIEF TRUSTED SHIP

Washington, April 7—(AP)—Four hours before he went to his death in the Atlantic on the Akron, Rear Admiral William A. Moffett said the airship was much better than the Shenandoah—the other air giant of the Navy that went to disaster in Ohio.

Richard E. Deal, one of the three Navy men who survived the crash of the Akron last Monday night, told a House Naval committee today of a conversation he had with the Navy's Chief of Aeronautics shortly before the fatal plunge of the ship.

His statement was given to the committee as Deal, Lieutenant Commander Herbert V. Wiley and Moody E. Erwin testified before the committee in its inquiry into the causes of the disaster.

At about the same time, Representative McClintic (D. Okla.) a former member of the Naval committee was asking the House Rules committee to have some other committee investigate the tragedy. He charged that if any committee interested in naval legislation made the inquiry, the matter would be "whitewashed."

Chairman Vinson of the Naval committee denied this in a personal clash with McClintic before the Rules committee.

STATE ACTS TO GET SALES TAX CASE DECISION

Atty. General Asks Demurrer In Sangamon Court

Springfield, Ill., April 7—(AP)—Constitutionality of the Illinois sales tax law, against which a temporary injunction has been granted at Edwardsville, was defended by the state today in a case brought before Circuit Judge L. E. Stone of Sangamon county. Attorney General Otto Kerner filed a motion for a demurrer in another suit against the sales tax which had been filed here by Frank L. Petru, Chicago attorney.

Judge Stone took the motion under advisement and ordered both sieds to file briefs.

The state entered the case here in what was a surprise move. A hearing on whether the sales tax injunction should be made permanent has been scheduled tomorrow before Judge Jesse R. Brown at Edwardsville, Madison county.

Montgomery S. Winning, Assistant Attorney General, argued the demurrer motion before Judge Stone. In agreement with Petru, representative of Chicago interests, the customary five days notice was waived.

Winning said no decision had been reached about the procedure to be followed in connection with the Madison county injunction.

Today's action brought all questions about the constitutionality of the three per cent tax on retail sales before the court. An early decision was expected, with an immediate appeal to be made to the Supreme Court regardless of Judge Stone's ruling.

It was indicated that the state transferred its attention to the local case in hope that it could be brought to a final decision as rapidly as possible.

Strike Of Chicago Students Is Ended

Chicago, April 7 —(AP)— Their ardour dampened by two days of marching in intermittent rain storms, students of Chicago public schools for the most part settled down to work in their classrooms today.

Parental rebukes, threats of stern disciplinary measures from school authorities, and a better understanding of why their teachers had not been paid were said by school principals to have practically ended the strike.

At large high schools, where thousands of students had marched out to have banners bearing the words, "Pay Our Teachers," enrollment was back to near normal.

Teachers, however, said they believed "spring fever and annual impulses for playing hookey" were more responsible for the walkouts than any heroic desire to obtain payment of millions of dollars in salaries due the instructors.

FIRE IN CHICAGO HOTEL

Chicago, April 7 —(AP)—Two hundred guests fled to the street early today when fire caused $35,000 damage to the Westland hotel on the west side. Firemen said a short circuit apparently caused the blaze, which started on the top floor.

DETECTIVE IS HELD ON CHARGE MADE BY NITTI

Former Henchman of Capone Accuses Officer After Trial

Chicago, April 7—(AP)—Police Detective Harry Lang was charged with assault to kill Frank Nitti, "public enemy" and former Capone aide, in an indictment returned today by the county grand jury.

The indictment grew out of a raid last December on a downtown office in which both Lang and Nitti were wounded.

The gangster originally was charged with attempting to kill the policeman, but Lang refused to testify in court that Nitti shot him.

Another detective in the raiding party then testified that Lang shot Nitti three times as the gangster stood unarmed with his hands at his sides. Asked how Lang was wounded, the detective said: "He must have shot himself."

Lang has been released on $2,000 bond on a perjury charge based on testimony allegedly given before a previous grand jury that Nitti shot him. At Nitti's trial yesterday, Lang would say only: "I don't know who shot me; I can't remember what I told the grand jury."

As the charges were switched from the one to the other insinuations were made by Attorney Daniel Covelli, representing Lang, that if pressed "we'll wreck the Democratic party." The grand jury was reported to have indicted Lang.

PRICE OF "NEW GERMANY" FIXED BY CHANCELLOR

330 Slain, 40,000 Of Citizens Wounded, Hitler Says

Berlin, April 7—(AP)—Chancellor Adolf Hitler has placed the price of Germany's "rebirth" at 330 persons slain, 40,000 persons wounded and 100,000 driven from commercial life.

He declared outright to an audience of cabinet members, diplomats and newspaper correspondents last night that these were the figures on the long incipient revolution which led to his rise to power.

"The German press hitherto marched behind, but today it marches abreast of the times. No government can destroy a press which prints the truth," he declared.

A virtual Nazi dictatorship will be established in the Federation of German Industries with the election of a Nazi-controlled executive board.

Nazi Christians, in the meanwhile, have acted to wipe out all races of Jewish religion in Christian teachings and a government "culture tax" was seen today as a further move toward nationalization of the Protestant church.

What course the Hitler government will take in regard to the Catholic church may be disclosed after a talk this week-end between the Pope and Vice Chancellor Franz von Papen in Rome. (A Rome Associated Press dispatch last night said Baron von Papen and Capt. Hermann Goering of the Hitler cabinet, will visit the Pope over the week-end to discuss the Nazi-Catholic situation in Germany.)

Reorganization of the Federation of Industries was aimed at adoption of an industrial policy to the views of the government, meaning Nazi control of vital industries. The old executive board resigned yesterday.

LEE CENTER H. S. BOARD TELLS OF COURT ACTION

Issues A Statement Concerning Tax Objections In Court

The Board of Education of Lee Center Community high school district No. 251, today issued the following statement concerning the tax-objection case decided in County Court Wednesday:

The statements appearing in this paper yesterday concerning the high school tax at Lee Center, in Lee County, to which objections were sustained by County Judge Leech this week are claimed by the friends of the District concerned to be somewhat misleading.

While it is true that several years ago a quo warranto proceeding was begun, challenging the validity of the district, yet it has never been tried and its promoters have frequently stated that they did not intend to push it for trial. It is claimed by the officers of the district that this is a confession that there is little or no merit in the suit, and that it was begun for vexatious purposes only. Taking such statements as being true the district has since the beginning continued to maintain its high school, regarding the suit as not brought in good faith.

In spite of this state of affairs the foes of the district secured an injunction against the building of a new school house which had been largely constructed when enjoined. The district appealed to the Appellate Court from this injunction order and it is pending for decision in such court.

As to the tax case the sole ground of the decision was that the County Clerk testified that while two certificates of levy had been filed he did not recall which one had been used in extending the taxes, but that as the two were the same in amount it made no difference which had been so employed.

Second Certificate

It is beyond question that the Board of Education had made a proper certificate of levy, that it had been filed properly with the School Treasurer and by him with the County Clerk all as required by

Less Intoxication In Chicago Today

Chicago, April 7—(AP)—"Lots of hilarity but little disorder"—those were the words with which police described the return of legal beer to Chicago today.

There were fewer arrests than usual for drunkenness during the early morning hours, police said, and most of those arrested admitted partaking of liquor stronger than 3.2 beer.

Although never overly strict in enforcement of sobriety, authorities had ordered that vigilence be further relaxed for the welcoming of beer.

Definite figures were not available but traffic accidents were reported at a lower point than usual. Police said it indicated there was no more intoxication than ordinary.

Police kept special watch on hotels and cafes which did a large business in beer, but there were no robberies attempted.

Theft Of Motor At Country Club Reported Solved

Frank Kanzler of this city was arrested at his home in the east end of the city yesterday afternoon by Sheriff Richardson and Deputy Miller following an investigation of the theft of a 300-pound electric motor from the pump house on the Dixon Country Club golf grounds last January. He was taken to the county jail and later in the afternoon is reported to have made a signed confession before State's Attorney Edward Jones and the sheriff and his chief deputy assuming all blame for the theft.

The motor was found last week in Rockford through the activity of one of the prominent members of the Country club who traced it through a serial number. Sheriff Richardson went to Rockford and with officials of the Country Club identified the stolen property and secured its return. The stolen motor was hauled to Rockford where it was traded for two smaller motors and some additional equipment. This was recovered at Kanzler's home yesterday afternoon by Deputy Miller.

A charge of burglary was preferred against Kanzler in Justice W T. Terrill's court this morning and he was to be arraigned this afternoon for preliminary hearing and it was expected that he would be held to the grand jury which will report Monday morning.

DUQUOIN MINER KILLED WHEN HE RESISTS ARREST

Was Wanted For Alleged Shooting Of A School Girl

BULLETIN

Duquoin, Ill., April 7—(AP)—Henry Arnold a Progressive miner wounded this morning in a skirmish with deputies in which his companion James Attes, another Progressive miner, was instantly killed died in the hospital here this afternoon.

DuQuoin, Ill., April 7—(AP)—James Attes, a Progressive miner is dead today while Henry Arnold also a Progressive miner and Lavern Miller, 14-year-old daughter of Vernon Miller, a United Mine Worker, are near death as a result of the latest flare-up in the mine union war for supremacy in the Illinois coal fields.

Attes was killed and Arnold critically wounded about 10 A. M. today when sheriffs deputies sought to take them in custody for questioning in connection with the shooting last night of the Miller girl, who was wounded as she sat in her home studying her school lessons when shots from a passing motor car sprayed the house.

Homes Shot Into

Police said a sweeping investigation would be conducted into the shooting of the girl and that number of persons had been taken in custody today for questioning. They said homes of Ray Weingardt and Glenn C. Canada, United Mine Workers, were also shot into last night from passing automobiles but they escaped injury.

The death of Attes today brings the total number of persons killed since the start of the mine union warfare to twelve.

Progressive miners have been active in Perry county for the past several weeks in an effort to strike the United Electric strip mine working under a contract with the United Mine Workers Union.

Yesterday deputies turned back more than 300 Progressive miners who attempted to picket the mine.

Deputies today guarded all roads into the county to prevent Progressive miners from other sections of the state entering the county to picket the operating mines.

Luther Taylor, better known to baseball fans as "Dummy" Taylor, one time star hurler with the New York Giants, was appointed as House Father at the State School for the Deaf at Jacksonville. Taylor resides at Clinton, Ill.

MRS. JUDD NOW HYSTERICAL AS DEATHDAY NEARS

Motion for New Trial Will Be Argued In Court Monday

Phoenix, Ariz., April 7—(AP)—Although her moments of hysteria have increased as the date set for her execution nears, Winnie Ruth Judd held to a thread of hope today in a motion filed by her attorneys asking a new trial.

The motion, booked for hearing Monday, carries affidavits intended to support charges of Mrs. Judd's attorneys that the jury which convicted her of murdering Agnes Anne Leroi sought by the conviction to "make her talk."

Contentions have been made that Mrs. Judd alone could not have dismembered the bodies of Mrs. Leroi and Hedvig Samuelson, slain with her, and shipped them to Los Angeles in trunks, as was done following the killings here October 16, 1931.

The motion was filed yesterday shortly after the Arizona Board of Pardons and Paroles had rejected her plea for another reprieve from the gallows. She is sentenced to hang at dawn April 21.

Hoard C. Richardson, one of her counsel, who told her of the board's action, said she became somewhat hysterical.

Mrs. Judd had asked the reprieve to allow time to carry her case to the United States Supreme Court, and allow the state prison Warden to decide whether he will ask a sanity hearing for her.

Joliet Man Likely Warden At Prison

Joliet, Ill., April 7—(AP)—George Sehring of Joliet was reported today to be in line for appointment as Warden of the state penitentiary here.

A former mayor of Joliet, Sehring has the backing of local Democrats and his candidacy reportedly has been looked upon with favor by Gov. Horner.

The present Warden, Frank D Whipp, was appointed during the last republican administration of Louis L. Emmerson.

From the same source, it was reported Warden David Moneypenny of the Cook county jail of Chicago probably would be named State Superintendent of Prisons, a position formerly held by Whipp.

Frank Kness, former Deputy Warden of the penitentiary, was understood to be under consideration for return to the same position.

HORNER DROPS OPPOSITION TO LOCAL OPTION

As Result Passage Of Regulatory Beer Bill Is Seen

Springfield, Ill., April 7—(AP)—Possibility of the enactment of a beer regulatory law in Illinois was seen today when Governor Horner said he had no objection to the inclusion of a local option clause in the administration-written bill which twice failed of passage in the lower house earlier this week.

Dry members of the legislature joined with extreme wets in defeating the administration measure. The drys objected to the non-inclusion of the local option clause and the extreme wets objected to state license and state regulation.

The coalition resulted in the first major legislative defeat suffered by the Horner administration.

The Governor said he probably would meet Monday with members of the House Licensing sub-committee in an endeavor to make the bill acceptable to sufficient members of the legislature to assure its passage.

Commenting on the fact that sale of 3.2 per cent beer today became legal, the Governor expressed concern that the legislature had failed to pass the regulatory act and also regret that the state is not now in a position to derive any revenue.

"The situation," the Governor said, "is, very hurtful to a state seeking to balance its budget."

The supply coming to Dixon checked up three cases short upon its arrival at the early morning hour.

Tariff Reduction Roosevelt's Plan

Washington, April 7—(AP)—A flat 10 per cent cut in American tariffs is reported in informed congressional circles to be one of the basic recommendations of a message and bill expected to be sent to Capitol Hill next week by President Roosevelt.

This bill will contain provisions for the Chief Executive to negotiate reciprocal tariff agreements—which he indicated in a message last Monday he had in mind and would be presented soon.

Authority for the President to reduce duties in exchange for concessions by foreign powers is understood to be sufficiently broad to give him virtually a free hand in seeking a revival of world trade and to aid in preparing for the world monetary and economic conference at London.

Roosevelt is moving swiftly to bring the leading statesmen of the world here for personal conversations to start the ball rolling.

TEACHER ADMITS SLAYING WOMAN, TWO CHILDREN

Grand Rapids Educator Failed In Suicide Attempt

BULLETIN

Grand Rapids, April 7—(AP)—Henry B. Bedford, 43-year-old schoolmaster, today was sentenced to life imprisonment in the Michigan branch prison at Marquette, a few hours after he pleaded guilty to charges of slaying Mrs. Mattie Sue Bengert, 28, and her two children following a quarrel in their home here.

Grand Rapids, Mich., April 7—(AP)—Lying on a hospital cot, a 43-year-old school principal, Henry B. Bedford, today admitted to officials that he strangled to death Mrs. Mattie Sue Bengert, 28, and her son, Carl, 8, placed her 3-months-old son in a gas-filled oven where he died, and then attempted to end his own life by inhaling gas.

"I guess I went mad," Prosecutor Bartel Jonkman said Bedford told him.

Bodies of Mrs. Bengert and the two children were found yesterday by her husband, Carl, as he returned to the home hoping to effect a reconciliation with his wife. He said he had left the house Tuesday after a quarrel brought about by Bedford's presence in the home. He also found Bedford, unconscious, in the gas-filled kitchen. Revived in a hospital, Bedford at first said he believed he had been poisoned while eating lunch and that he supposed the poisoner took the lives of the three Bengerts.

Became Incensed

Today, however, Prosecutor Jonkman said Bedford confessed that he became incensed when Mrs. Bengert, to whom he had made love told him, "I'll never live with you and I won't go back to my husband."

Bedford had been principal of the Turner public school here for three years. Before that, he held positions in schools at Bellvue, Mich., Litchfiled, O., St. Charles, Ill., Aurora, Ill., Plainfield., and Forest Park, Ill. A divorced wife and two children live in Tennessee.

"I got a piece of cord," the Prosecutor quoted Bedford as saying, "and wound it around her neck until she was dead. Then I came downstairs and found Carl. I took him into the garage and strangled him, too, with another piece of cord. When I came back I found the baby lying on the table, and placed him in the oven of the gas stove in the kitchen. I turned on the gas and lay on a couple of chairs in front of the stove. I wanted to die."

The Prosecutor said a warrant charging first degree murder would be prepared at once.

Bedford was taken into Superior court shortly before noon and pleaded guilty to a charge of murder. He was taken to jail to await a second court appearance for hearing on the degree of murder.

Prior to his arraignment he was taken to the Prosecutor's office but refused to sign a confession or to give any additional details of the crime.

"Why go into gruesome details?" he asked. "I killed them; I told you I killed them and I will plead guilty."

NATIONAL DEBT GREATER THAN TOTAL WEALTH

President Of Remington Rank Published Estimates

New York, April 7—(AP)—J. H. Rand, Jr., president of Remington Rand, Inc. released today a research of his company's statistical department showing that the total interest-bearing debt of the United States is now greater than the national wealth.

Total debt is $141,924,300,000 while national wealth is $138,,000,000,000, the research shows. This debt estimate is similar to other recent figures, but there have been no recent estimates of national wealth.

Rand emphasized that such figures were estimates and theoretical but he said he had no doubt of their reasonable accuracy. Estimates of national wealth, however, are always contentious. Rand is chairman of the directing committee of the Committee for the Nation, a group of 300 business leaders which has recommended devaluation of the dollar.

The research put present national income at $29,900,000,000 while the total of cash, bank deposits and listed securities was $123,000,000,000. Rand said these three latter items represented cash and equivalent—that bank deposits and listed securities had much the same effect on purchasing power as actual cash, that the total represented the more liquid portions of the national wealth.

The following table compares wealth, debt, income and cash and its equivalent for three years—1922, 1929 and 1933 in billions of dollars:

1929	362	163.3	85.2	292.3
1933	138	141.9	29.9	123

Sterling Woman Seeks To Get $500 From Estate Of Late C. A. Holwick, Former Merchant Here

Mrs. Mary L. Bailey of Sterling through her attorneys, Sheldon & Brown of that city is seeking to collect $500 from the estate of the late C. A. Holwick, former Dixon merchant. Attorney John Armstrong of this city is representing the estate. A hearing was conducted before Judge Leech in the County Court this morning and April 12 was the date set for the filing of written briefs and arguments.

In the will of the former Dixon merchant, a clause was cited in which Mr. Holwick requested that Mrs. Bailey notify certain persons, who were named, and that she take charge of the body and arrange for its preparation and burial. One clause further stated: "I would want her presence near me until I was buried from sight, and as a consideration of her kindness, I instruct the executor or executrix of my estate to pay her $500 within 30 days from the date of my death."

This provision bore date of March 9, 1914, and the heirs are protesting the claim of the Sterling woman. She appeared in the County Court this morning and testified that on account of illness she was unable to carry out the duties as prescribed in the reques.

Missing Accuser Of Alabama Negroes Returned To Refute Evidence She Gave Formerly

Decatur, Ala., April 7—(AP)—Ruby Bates, missing accuser in the Scottsboro case, was back today with a story contradicting an earlier statement that she and another white girl were attacked by a group of Negroes aboard a freight train.

The witness disappeared February 27 and came back just as the defense was about to conclude testimony in the case of Heywood Patterson, first of seven Negroes to be retried here in the case after death sentences and appeals.

A few hours after the Bates girl's appearance and denial of her original story, reports that a mob was forming in Hutsville, home of the two white girls in the case, reached here. National Guardsmen with automatic rifles were thrown around the apartment hotel of Samuel S. Leibowitz, New York attorney, and the guard at the jail was increased. No mob materialized.

The Bates girl said she hitchhiked to New York to find work. While there she called on Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, pastor of the Riverside Baptist church, at his home to ask his advice and he advised her to return and testify at the second trial.

30-HOUR WEEK BILL IS PASSED BY U. S. SENATE

Will Probably Be Amended When It Reaches House

Washington, April 7—(AP)—The Senate today turned to the farmers' troubles after having approved a far-reaching measure designed to spread industrial employment by limiting hours to 30 a week.

The administration's farm relief program was set to stay before the Senate until a final vote. Leaders predicted—despite evident opposition—that this would come before next Wednesday. Then the House must pass on it.

Sponsored by Senator Black (D. Ala.), the bill limiting labor in manufacturing industries to five days a week and six hours a day was approved by the Senate last night, 53 to 30.

It was sent to the House. Democratic leaders would not predict President Roosevelt's attitude, but they did expect the measure to be changed in the House to raise the working limit to 36 hours. Robinson of Arkansas asserted a 36-hour limitation—defeated by the Senate in debate—would be aceptable to Mr. Roosevelt.

Predict Approval

Advocates contended the measure would give jobs to 6,000,000 idle and that it would be upheld by the Supreme Court. With some exceptions, the measure would bar from Interstate Commerce any product manufactured or mined by labor working more than 30 hours.

Articles specifically exempt include newspapers and periodicals, perishable commodities such as sea foods, fruits and vegetables, milk and milk products, and all farm products "processed for first sale by the original producer." Railroads are not affected.

The House was in recess today, but committees went ahead with the Akron disaster coming up for investigation and the administration's securities regulation bill undergoing revision.

The Senate Banking committee also continued hearings on the securities bill. The Johnson bill, which would prohibit the sale in this country of securities floated by foreign countries in default on their debts, was approved yesterday by the Senate Judiciary committee. At the same time the Senate Banking committee virtually completed the draft of a bill to reform the national banking laws. It is based on the Glass bill of last session, with several major additions, one of which probably will be a provision for insuring deposits.

THERE is a law of God which may be applied to every possible situation reaching to and healing every inmost discordant belief. Of this ever present spiritual power the Psalmist sang "Thy Law is the Truth." Each one may, just so fast as he understands it apply the great truth, that since God is Love, or divine Principle, God's law, ever operates, as though, love.—The Christian Science Monitor.

World's Fair Inspires Designers, Etc.

Chicago, April 7—(AP)— The coming World's Fair and its modernistic architecture have inspired new silk dress prints being shown now by a large State Street department store.

In addition these prints have been styled into frocks, suits, hats and gloves—yes, gloves, and they are something decidedly new and different.

There is one print called "Science Tower" which hints of the outlines of the Hall of Science on the fair grounds. It was made up into a frock having a waist-length jacket with wide shoulders.

The "Sky Ride" attraction at the fair inspired a print by that name. It was fashioned into a suit having a jacket fluted at the shouders with a big organdie bow under the chin.

Regular Meeting Prairieville P.T.A. Thursday Evening

The regular April meeting of the Prairieville P. T. A. was held at the schoolhouse Thursday evening April 6 with the president Chas. Manon presiding. During the business meeting it was decided to omit sending a delegate to the annual convention at Danville. A letter from the state president, Gertrude Keith Flagler, was read. This letter announced radio programs sponsored by the Illinois Council of Parents and Teachers, and by the University of Chicago. They are broadcasted every Wednesday at 2:15 to 2:30 P. M. over station KYW. Their general topic is "The Schools and the Present Social Crisis," meaning in particular the financial situation and its effect on the efficiency of the schools. All parents and interested citizens are invited to listen to these broadcasts, the last of the series being June 14.

The P. T. A. voted to sponsor the play "The Kitchen Band" given by the Broadway Methodist Church. This play will be presented at the schoolhouse Friday evening, April 21. The public is cordially invited to this play.

After the business meeting the following program was given:

Songs, "Lovely Star," "Ship of Peace"—primary room.

Numbers by "Clown Band" of Sterling.

Song, "A Merry Life." —Grammar room.

Violin solos, "Old Refrain," and "Rockaby Moon."—Leota Rutt, accompanied by Marcella Rutt of Dixon.

Violin Trio, "Sweethearts Forever," and "River Keep Away From My Door," Eugene Fester, Raymond Bjork and Frank Suloff of Sterling.

One Act Play — "Elizabeth's Young Man."

Aunt Abbie—Mrs. John O'Hare.
Cousin Lucretia — Mrs. Mollie Senneff.
Elizabeth—Mrs. Carol Warner.
Elizabeth's Young Man — Mrs. Lulu Witmer.

Vocal duet, "When I'm Gone You'll Soon Forget."—Kathryn and Frances Rutt, accompanied by Mrs Edna Pine.

Piano and saxophone duet — by Bjork and Fester.

The play by four Sterling ladies was most cleverly given. All charged the fear and worries of the ladies and their great relief when "Elizabeth's Young Man" was found to be a doctor instead of a patient for the sanitarium.

The musical numbers were all well given and appreciated. Special mention should be made of the imitations and explanatory illustrations of Raymond Bjork. This talented young musician delighted the audience with his clever portrayals of the little boy, big sister, grandfather, and others, at the piano. He also showed the difference between the modern syncopated music and music as it should be played, so that everyone could hear the difference. Old favorites such as "Home Sweet Home" were barely recognized in their modern rendition.

While much of the program was music, the numbers were well-given and so varied in ther style and appeal. All felt that the program commitee were to be congratulated on this delightful program.

Bracelets Much In Vogue Again

Bracelets are in high style right now.

They certainly are decorative, if you pick the right ones. But—remember that heavy, wide, flashy bracelets make your wrists look fatter than they really are. Think twice about loading yourself down with something that may not be an asset to beauty.

Little delicate bracelets are much better for you, if you don't happen to have a tapering arm. You can wear ten or twenty, they still give an effect of grace that wide bracelets lack.

If you can't live without your wrist-watch, try the double narrow cord instead of a wide ribbon or a leather strap. The double cord has the same delicacy about it that narrow bracelets have, a fact not to be overlooked by women who care about trifles.

When you have both bracelets and rings to wear, concentrate on one side, preferably your left side. Your shoulder flowers, your belt sashes and other ornamentations go better on the left side, so do jewels.

Right now, however, pairs of bracelets sometimes are worn on opposite wrists. This is a matter of taste. Before you indulge in it, get in front of a mirror and study yourself with all your bracelets on one wrist and then divide. Abide by your own decision, for certainly you can tell which looks best.

"FRESH OF MY KITCHEN TO YOU."

Eighty Attended the Cantrell Young People's Meeting Thurs.

The young people's meetings under the direction of Mrs. Arthur McKee, pianist and young people's worker of the Grady Cantrell evangelistic party, are progressing spdendidly. Last evening a group of young people numbering around 80 were present to participate in the work.

The chorus singing is being led by Paul Thompson assisted by Elizabeth Ford at the piano. The theme song of the conference is the chorus, "Into My Heart."

Although many are disappointed ot think "Dick" Choate, last year's conference director, is unable to be with the work this year, they will find a willing, capable and consecrated worker in the present director, Mrs. McKee. The thought brought out in the foregoing meetings has been that of the Armor of a Christian, the scripture being found in the Eph. 6:10-17.

The next meeting will be held Sunday at 6:00 P. M. at the Christian Church, at which time there will be something special in store for all who attend. The week-day meetings are held on Tuesday and Thursday evenings at 6:45.

Further notices as to the work of the young people will be published next week but as no one cares so much for second-hand darticles or stories be present and get them first hand. The age limis as expressed in announcements made at various times is that any one from ten to ninety years of age is most heartily invited, regardless of church affiliation.

The Palmyra, Dixon and Nelson Units were hostesses to the Lee County Home Bureau members and friends at a party held Thursday, April 16th in the Christian church parlors. Mrs. Florence Syverud, the County Home Advisor introduced the District committee, composed of the Chairman of the entertaining Units; Mrs. Charles Mensch, Palmyra Chairman, Mrs. Earl Auman, Dixon Chairman, Mrs. W. Lamont, Nelson Chairman. Miss Helen Nagle of the Dixon Evening Unit could not be present.

Mrs. Syverud then introduced the members of the Lee County Executive board of the Home Bureau. Next number on the program was an entertaining address given by Mrs. L. N. Deutsch, of the Woman's Club of Dixon, being introduced by Mrs. Florence Syverud. After the inspiring address, which all enjoyed, Miss Ruth Bollman gave two very delightful readings. The meetwas then turned over to Mrs. A. C. Welch, County Recreation Chairman, who led and directed games, assisted by Mrs. Syverud and Mrs. Ellis Kugler. About eighty-five were present to enjoy the day.

Dry Organizations Attack New Brew

Chicago, April 7 —(AP)— Beer's return was the signal for an attack on the new brew by dry organizations—the W. C. T. U. and the Anti-Saloon League of Illinois.

From Mrs. Ella A. Boole, president of the National Women's Christian Temperance Union, came a statement charging that the new beer was legalized in violation of the 18th amendment and that "when the wet hysteria will have passed, the American people will awaken to the fact that the liquor traffic cannot be controlled because of its inherent nature."

Previous to her action, Dr. George B. Safford, Superintendent of the Illinois Anti-Saloon League that his organization had launched an investigation to determine if the new brew is intoxicating and that he expected the results would be used in court in an effort to prove that Congress erred in holding that it was not. Members of his organization were assigned to visit drinking places for their information.

TURMOIL IN GERMANY.

Watching the turbulence and excesses of the new government in Germany these days is a little bit like sitting by the bedside of an old-friend who, burning with fever, is striking out wildly and raving desperately in a delirium. We are horrified by what we see and hear, and we wish earnestly that something could be done to stop it; but at the same time we remember that our friend is not himself and that in his sober senses he wouldn't dream of doing the things that distress us so greatly.

The things that are happening in Germany today do not make pleasant reading. The prospects for continued peace in the near future are dark. But we remember that Germany has been driven unmercifully by the Versailles treaty; a thing which, like a fever, has raised a delirium. Is there much chance for improvement until the fever itself is broken?

RESTORING A TRADITION.

The Nazi ministry in Bavaria has removed the old ban on duelling among students in the Bavarian universities. A German republican code which sought to outlaw the student duels, an important feature of undergraduate life for many years, has been revoked. Henceforth the students can slash one anothers faces with sabers to their hearts' content.

And this—to an American who has never been within many miles of any German university—seems like a good thing. Doubtless student duelling is a barbaric and useless custom—but it is a colorful, high-spirited tradition, and its existence has provided a large part of the glamour which, at this distance, seems to hang over the German universities.

CONGRESS CO-OPERATES.

When you are giving cheers for the way in which the "new deal" is being put through in Washington, don't forget that Congress—our much-maligned, perennially-criticized Congress—deserves a round of applause too.

No peace-time Congress ever acted with the speed that this Congress displayed in putting President Roosevelt's bank bill into effect. The House gave the president a unanimous vote, scorning even to keep a tally of it; the Senate moved a trifle more slowly, but nevertheless progressed at breath-taking speed and recorded only seven votes in opposition.

Congress has shown, by this action, that it is quite as anxious to play ball as the most ardent could wish. And it leaves one with the suspicion that a president who is willing and able to provide forceful and dramatic leadership can get all the co-operation out of Congress that he or any man could use.

THE TINYMITES

Story by HAL COCHRAN — Pictures by GEORGE SCARBO

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The Midget Man soon was untied and Duncy very loudly cried. "Let's catch some of the monkeys and repay them for their trick.

"I see a funny little one and catching him should be real fun." The Midget Man replied, "Say, if you do, you are pretty slick."

Then Duncy started on a chase. It proved to be a crazy race. The monkey ran right up a tree and Duncy cried, "No fair!"

"You ought to stay right on the ground, where I can follow you all around. I guess you are smart enough to know that I can't run up there."

"Oh, let him go," said Scouty. "He is just as fast as he can be. You will only tire yourself all out and you need a rest."

Then wee Windy cried, "I think you're right. Let's find a place to sleep tonight. Unless it rains, right out here in the open will be the best."

"Now, wait! I have a better plan," replied the friendly Midget Man. "Why not all come to my house? There is really room galore.

"I guess you will not mind at all that my own home is rather small, and that you Tinymites will have to sleep upon the floor."

"Of course not," answered Coppy. "Gee, most any place appeals to me, just so I get a dandy snooze before another day.

"I drift right off when stretched out flat. In fact, I like to sleep like that. We'll follow you right home, if you will lead the way."

So Mister Midget Man set out. The Tinies trailed along. In 'bout five minutes they had reached the house. It made the whole bunch grin. "Gee, it's a nice place," Scouty cried. "I'll bet it is nicer still inside." The Midget Man then opened the door and said "Walk in!"

REFEREE AND UMPIRE
By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton

In the midst of his agony Job cried out passionately, "O, that there were a referee between us who might lay his hand upon both of us!" In other words, he felt that God had been unjust and he wanted an umpire to settle the terrible contest of thought and passion the deep dispute between faith and doubt—an umpire between God and man!

In the bad old days, whenever a dispute arose either in sport or industry, it ended in a fight and chaos. With the advent of the referee or arbitrator in our time— a detached, impartial judge—the situation has changed like magic. Our private disputes are adjudicated in courts, not fought out in duels as in days gone by, much less kept alive by feuds.

Slowly we are extending the idea of law, reason, the distinguished tribunal to other things—to trade barriers and even war. Hot passions so apt to boil over like scalding water, are given time to cool off. Life becomes a little less like a dog-fight, and disputes become debates conducted in decency, all because there is umpire whose word is final.

But Job in his anguish asked for life, when God or Fate seemed to a referee in the deep distresses of have no regard for right. He had been stricken down by awful adversities—"disaster following fast and following faster"—and he was desperate and bitter. His arm-chair friends said that his misfortune was proof of sin and a punishment for it.

Job, fighting both for his faith and his integrity, denied that he was more wicked than other men, and asked for a referee. Who that has passed through a great sorrow, or a devasting disaster, has not felt as Job did? Life can be so ruthless, so brutal, so cruel, ignoring all our higher values of justice, right, love, as if they were only filigree.

In our Christian faith Jesus is a referee, a go-between, who seeks to reconcile men to God; a mediator who suffred more than we have imagined, yet did not lose faith. The very thought of Him melts our hardness, softens our bitterness, and we bow to a will wiser than our own, willing to await a final verdict not only upon life, but upon the issue of destiny!

PROLONGING LIFE

Present to any group of scientists the question as to whether the natural span of life can be prolonged and you will at once provoke a heated debate.

Analyze the arguments presented and you will find that the big catch in our problem lies in the term "prolonging."

There are certain scientists who firmly hold that the normal length of life of every species, man included, is determined by certain hereditary forces, which they contend, in no way can be influenced so as to lengthen the life of the individual beyond the original native span.

There is, of course, no question that the length of time may be shortened by adverse circumstances and practices.

Considered from a purely theoretical viewpoint, we are not in a position to contradict the scientist who maintains that the span of life in a species, or even individual animals, cannot be prolonged beyond its inherent duration.

However, neither animals nor men ever live in a theoretical world. In consequence the question of the prolongation of life must be dealt with from a practical angle.

And from a practical viewpoint it cannot be questioned that the span of life can be influenced by the care accorded to the individual.

It was in this spirit that Osler, the famous physician, once observed that to assure oneself of a long life one should develop a chronic disease and then take care of it.

An occasional illness is indeed at times a godsend to the individual who ,when well, is inclined to go about his business heedless of the rules of good living.

Every physician is acquainted with scores of so-called chronic sufferers who carry on their daily share of work and who are not without pleasure in life precisely because they are chronically sick and because they had learned to appreciate and to remain within their limits.

Akron fell into the sea with 76 officers and men aboard while on a test cruise from her base at Lakehurst, N. J. BELIEVES IN MARS

Hartford, Conn., April 6—(AP)—Maintaining that intelligent beings probably exist on Mars, and envisioning the possibility of interstellar communication within some 25 years time, Hiram Percy Maxim has joined the ranks of those who give credence to a belief that Martian "canals" are the gigantic work of a rac of creatures far more advanced than men of this earth. These views of the engineer and inventor of the Maxim silencer are in his new book, "Life's place in the Cosmos."

MAJOR LEAGUE CLUBS PRESENT MANY NEW FACES

Only Five Teams Will Start With Same Infielders

New York, April 7 —(AP)—Major league baseball clubs will resume business at the old stands next Wednesday but they'll hardly look the same.

The off-season set up a new all-time record for player exchanges and with the usual quota of freshmen breaking into the lineups, some of the clubs will be all but unrecognizable to home town fans.

All the returns are not yet in but a survey of the situation today makes it appear that only five of the 16 clubs will open the new season with the same infields that carried on in the closing days of the 1932 season— The New York Yankees, Washington Senators and St. Louis Browns of the American League and the Pittsburgh Pirates and Chicago Cubs of the National.

The Browns are counting again on the defensive skill of Burns, Melillo, Levey and Scharein, and the world champion Yankees will probably stand pat on the Gehrig, Lazzeri, Crosetti, Sewell combination, although there still is an outside chance that Bill Werber may beat Crosetti out of the short-stop berth. The Senators have no worries with Kuhel, Myer, Cronin and Bluege.

George Gibson is well satisfied with Suhr, Piet, Vaughan and Traylor and the Cubs have no big kicks on Grimm, Billy Herman, English and Koenig, although the latter may be given frequent relief.

New First Basemen

Every one of the other 11 clubs will show at least one change in the first line defense with first base shifts the most prominent. The Brooklyn Dodgers, Cincinnati Reds, Chicago White Sox and probably the Phillies, all will open with men at that post who were not there at the close of 1932.

The Dodgers have plugged their one infield weakness with Joe Judge, who learned just about all there is to know about first base in 18 years with Washington. The Reds will have Jim Bottomley, erstwhile Cardinal, at that spot and Manager Lou Fonseca will resume his place there for the White Sox.

Don Hurst, Phillies slugger, finally has agreed to terms after the most extended holdout campaign of the spring, but probably will not be in shape to open the season at his customary station. Gus Dugas, former Pirate's outfielder who has been filling in for Hurst, probably will continue to do so through the early part of the campaign.

Shifts at second and third base are almost as numerous. The Phillies will have Neal (Nickey) Finn, former Dodger, at second base, while the Boston Red Sox will offer Johnny Hodapp.

At Third Base

At third base, the Athletics will present Frank Higgins in Jimmy Dykes' old spot while Dykes is doing his baseballing for the White Sox. Marvin Owen is Bucky Harris' choice at third for the Detroit Tigers, while Fritz Knothe apparently will be the Boston Braves regular there.

John (Blondy) Ryan probably will open at shortstop for the New York Giants while Travis Jackson is building up his strength and Bill Knickenbocker is slated to cover the territory between second and third for the Cleveland Indians. Dick Gyselman, coast recruit, probably will be retained by the Braves but seems to have small chance now of ousting Bill Urbanski from short or Knothe from third.

To all these changes the St. Louis Cardinals probably will add at least two more but Gabby Street's team still is in the process of formation. Of the 1932 infield regulars only Jimmy Collins and Frank Frisch are certain starters. Collins is a fixture at first but Frisch probably will move to third in the event that Rogers Hornsby makes good on his attempted comeback at second. The Cardinals also are in a bad way for a shortstop now that Gordon Slade throwing arm. The best guess is suffering from an injury to his right now is that Earl (Sparky) Adams will be the fourth member of the inner defense when the campaign opens.

Hooks and Slides

FROM THE RINGSIDE—

The New York Boxing Commission was going to do all sorts of fine things for boxing after Ernie Schaaf's death .... but the other night Bob Godwin was allowed to be knocked out by Maxie Rosenbloom .... and Godwin's eyebrows were taped so they wouldn't fall down on his chest before the fight began.

STILL TRYING—

England has another bloomin' heavyweight champion, my word ....the man's name is Jack Peterson.....he won the heavyweight championship and a Lonsdale belt by beating Reggie Meen, the old softie.....That Jack Pettifer was the old meanie, though. Petersen smacked Reggie on the chin, according to his own count, 60 times —using more than 16 rights in one round—but Pettifer didn't assume the horizontal until the closing heat of a 12-rounder, I suppose we'll be seeing Petersen one of these days—more's the pity.

THE DARK SIDE—

Hope we see little Jerry Mazza again, though ..... but in some happier racket than boxing has been for him .... Jerry was fighting a lad named Al Roth in Madison Square Garden .... and was ahead until Roth swung a haymaker in the fifth and Jerry went down ..... his head hitting the floor with a plunk as though someone had dropped a pumpkin .....they got him to his corner and shoved him out for another round, limp and stumbling .... it happened—Bang!— in the dressing room he moaned "Mama! Mama!" ..... she had been dead two years ..... at the hospital it was found he had sustained a brain concussion. Jerry seemed so fine a boy ..... to be suddenly thrust among those roundheels who stand vacant-eyed outside fight clubs on nights when bouts are billed.

SEEN AND HEARD—

When Stan Poreda stopped Tom Heeney his stock rose again. It is not funny to watch an old champion being punched down the hill toward oblivion—that thought is prompted by Tommy Loughran, who still thinks he can win—Jack Dempsey's beef-steak dinner to the press lads the other night was well attended, the boys like Jack—and will do all they can to put him over as a promoter in New York.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Joe Medwick, the Cardinal's rookie, had a manager who conducted his salary negotiations with the club. Winning 20 games a season isn't bad—but how about winning 60? Well old Hoss Radbourne did it in 1884—and his salary was $2500. If Cliff Bolton can learn to handle pop fouls he will be Washington's first-string catcher one of these days. Because George Puccinelli had the unmitigated nerve to ask for more money he was shipped to Rochester by the Cardinals. Uncle Frank Navin recently saved baseball for Detroit high schools—agreeing to furnish the balls and bats. When Sidney Franklin decided to become a bull fighter, he started training in a slaughter house—so he would become used to the sight of blood.

MAKING IT SNAPPY—

Not a member of the New York Giants was born in New York. Mercer Beasley, famous tennis coach, is opening a tennis school for girls at New Orleans, and he pledges the students to secrecy as to what they learn. A record crowd of 124,179 recently saw the final game of the international soccer series— and, of all places, at Glasgow. An estimate of 150,000 attendance was given for the English Cup final at Wembley in 1923, but an accurate count was impossible because part of the crowd crashed the gates.

SECOND-HAND CREWS—

Manhattan has taken to the water—Harvard and the New York A. C. contributed second-hand shells—and an old barge anchored at Sherman creek on the Harlem serves for a boathouse. Rutgers also has found an old boat somewhere and is paddling it around with much gusto. Poughkeepsie is the only major crew race called off this year.

New sets of signals will be general among big league teams this year—whenever a player is traded new signals must be devised—and there was plenty of trading last winter. Chief Bender was one of the greatest signal thieves in the game —He taught Eddie Collins how to swipe 'em.

ODD NOTES—

How's the family? Hambletonian, great horse of more than a half century ago, was the lineal parent of 19,000 harness horses—a granite shaft in the Warwick valley, near Chester, N. Y. marks the old great grandfather's resting place. How would you like to be a member of the Yale rugby squad and be "forced" to go to Bermuda for a series with British Army and Navy teams? Rassler Ray Steele is one of the few athletes ever to overcome the handicap of a dislocated spinal vertebra. Among the thrills of the winter that we missed was hearing Babe Didrickson sing "Fit as a Fiddle."

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Tick On, one of the favorites in the Kentucky Derby last year, is training for the races again—After Tick On's breakdown Max Hirsch sold him to Col. E. R. Bradley —and one of the trainers at Idle Hour farm, H. C. Moody, has been getting the big fellow in shape by driving him hitched to a sulky—to strengthen the weak legs. Ching Johnson of the Rangers tells of a recent game in which he played while his mind was a blank. He was whacked on the head at the start of the last period and didn't come to until he was back in the dressing room after the game —yet he shot the goal that beat the Americans.

Roosevelt Given Baseball Passes

Washington, Apr. 6—(AP)—President Roosevelt indulged in a brief baseball fanning bee today as he accepted, with thanks, season passes to the American and National Leagues.

He promised Clark Griffith, president of the Washington ball club, who handed him the American League pass, to attend the opening game here next Wednesday between Washington and Philadelphia.

Cage Coaches To Discuss "Pivot" Play At Meeting

New York, April 7—(AP)—The "post" or "pivot" play in basketball was expected to get a thorough going-over today at a meeting of the rules committee of the National Association of basketball Coaches in which the teachers of the game were to settle on what changes in the rules, if any, they would recommend to the joint rules committee later this week.

Most of the suggestions for rule changes made so far deal with the "post" play in that section of the court within the free throw area. Present rules say a guard may not come within three feet of the pivot man in that section of the court. The coaches contend this favors the offense over the defense, at least in some sections of the country. The question came up in an informal discussion at the meeting of the Board of Directors yesterday and it was pointed out that in the west fouls are generally called against the guard while in the east the man with the ball usually is penalized if he bumps the guard.

Louisville, April 7 — (AP)—Fred Walker is making it tougher and tougher for Manager Joe McCarthy to make up his mind about what reserve outfielders his New York Yankees should carry this season.

The former International League flash subbed for the ailing Babe Ruth against Louisville yesterday, banged out a triple and two singles and scored four runs. It looks now that McCarthy will just about have to keep Walker and Sam Byrd as the two outfield replacements.

Loughran To Meet Spanish Scrapper

Chicago, Apr. 7—(AP)—Up stepped Tommy Loughran, Philadelphia boxing master, with an offer today to fight Izzy Gastanaga, Spanish heavyweight, at the Chicago Stadium Apuril 21 after King Levinsky, Charley Retzlaff and Otto Von Porat refused to trade punches with the Spaniard.

Loughran's terms were considered so fair by officials of the Stadium Operating Company that the bout will no doubt be signed, along with supporting heavyweight contests.

Levinsky declined to box Gastanago because, he said, he had no reputation. Loughran only recently outpointed Levinsky in Philadelphia.

COLLEGES' BAN ON BEER ISN'T TO BE LIFTED

Professional Baseball Players Asked Not To Overindulge

New York, April 7—(AP)— So far as college athletes are concerned, the ban on beer remains.

Almost to a man, authorities at representative colleges and universities informed The Associated Press they would continue to forbid beer to their athletes except under special circumstances.

Legalization of the beverage, in the opinion of most of these leaders, will create no problem at all for the colleges simply because training rules will be just as rigorous as ever.

Lawson Robertson, head coach of the last three Olympic track and field teams; William J. Bingham, Harvard's Athletic Director; Jim Crowley, Fordham's new head football coach; Harvey Harman and Glenn S. (Pop) Warner, football coaches at Penn and Temple respectively, all indicated strong opposition to any beer drinking at all by the youngsters under their charge. John F. (Chick) Meehan of Manhattan, and Lou Little of Columbia, agreed, with modifications.

Meehan said he would have no hesitation at all in "prescribing a bottle or two of ale for an athlete who is over-trained or stale" and Little qualified his opposition by saying he thought a "glass or two of beer, occasionally, is all right for athletes if they have been accustomed to it."

Whatever the rigid restrictions as applied to the amateurs, professional athletes will be asked simply not to over-indulge.

John A. Heydler, president of the National League, put it this way:

"There is no harm in the players having a bottle or two of beer, especially after a particularly hard game or series. It often has a tonic effect. But the player who does not know enough not to drink too much will not last long. Competition is too keen nowadays for athletes in any sport so highly skilled as big league baseball to over-indulge and keep their place."

Savoldi To Meet Londos Tonight

Chicago, Apr. 7—(AP)—Jim Londos of Greece risks his claim to the world's heavyweight wrestling championship against the rushes of Jumping Joe Savoldi of Notre Dame football fame tonight. A crowd of 20,000 was expected to jam the Chicago Stadium to watch the match.

KNOX DIRECTOR QUITS

Galesburg, Ill., April 6 —(AP)— Earle Jackson, Director of Athletics at Knox College, resigned today to take effect at the close of the present college year. He came here ten years ago from Carleton College Northfield, Minn. as track coach.

Jackson developed track teams that won the championship of the "Little Nineteen" four times.

LEGAL BEER ON SALE TODAY IN NINETEEN STATES

age; its foes voiced criticism and warning.

Five minutes after beer became legal at midnight, a big truck, gay with festoons, rumbed to the service entrance of the White House, bearing two cases—a brewer's gift to the President. Roosevelt, who had retired, had indicated he will give the beer to friends.

Parade In New York

On Broadway, New Yorkers paraded behind a hearse lettered "Near Beer is Dead", while a band in bright Bavarian uniforms played dirges and drinking songs. The brewers of the metropolis had refused to deliver before 6 A. M. but by 1 A. M. some hotels, cafes and restaurants had managed to get beer from New Jersey and elsewhere. Throngs celebrated. In speakeasies, where prices tumbled before the competition, customers toasted (with "needle beer" and gin) the advent of legal brew.

"Surprisingly good", said Chicago beer connoisseurs as they celebrated "New Beer's Day." While 100,000 cases and 200,000 barrels sped to points of delivery there, cheering throngs crowded downtown streets, hotels and eating places.

German societies in St. Paul, where beer flowed freely at midnight, toasted President Roosevelt and "happy days." A funeral march ushered spiked beer to oblivion.

While H. L. Mencken, author, iconclast and beer expert of Baltimore, was tasting the new brew and pronouncing it "pretty good; not bad at all," Mrs. Ella A. Boole, national head of the W. C. T. U., declared the beer violated the 18th Amendment and said:

"When the wet hyteria will have passed, the American people will awaken to the fact that the liquor traffic cannot be controlled because of its inherent nature."

Unsolved Problem

The problem that the new brew opened for gangsters and racketeers who dominated much of the illegal beer trade was one yet to be solved. In New York racketmen were reported trying to "persuade" speakeasy owners to go on selling the dubious beverage sponsored by the underworld.

Alfred E. Smith, old foe of prohibition, found himself the center of felicitations. Brewers hastened to send him their first cases of legal beer. One dispatched six Clydesdale horses to draw a four ton brewery stake wagon up to Mr. Smith's Fifth Avenue home with a case of the new beverage.

In the confusion and frantic efforts by brewers to keep abreast with orders, no estimate could be obtained immediately as to how much of a fillip the legalization of beer had given to business, how much money was being spent on beer, or how many men had been put to work. Brewers in Chicago estimated $5,000,000 had gone into circulation there immediately, while a newspapers said about 40,000 persons had got jobs in Illinois as the result of beer. From the first few hours sale in Minnesota the government garnered $100,000 in revenue.

Prices Vary

The price varied. In New York a much-quoted figure was $2 a case of 24 bottles. The price for a glass was often 10 cents; sometimes a nickel for a small glass, but in hotels and some restaurants it was in many cases 15 cents a glass and sometimes as high as 35 cents a bottle.

Four hundred thousand barrels of beer began rolling away from brewery loading platforms in New York, but from there, and from other sections came word that the demand leaped ahead of the supply.

In many places the brewers held fast to the plan to hold deliveries until after dawn. In California the hour was set for 6 A. M. and in Oregon for 8 A. M.

CHICAGOANS MERRY

Chicago, April 7—(AP)—Thousands of Chicagoans made merry early today in a manner somewhat reminiscent of a New Year's Eve to welcome legalized beer after 13 years of separation — and their verdit was that it was "surprisingly good."

The celebration got promptly underway at midnight when the cheering throngs lined sidewalks in the downtown area to greet the "lifting of the lid." Hotel men, many of whom had said they wished to delay serving beer until later in the day, yielded to demands from thirtsy patrons and joined night club and cafe owners in dispensing the new brew. Unofficial estimates were that a hundred thousand cases and 200,000 barrels were being distributed by some 700 trucks.

Some of the brewers estimated that about $5,000,000 had been put into circulation immediately, due to demands for immediate delivery from chain groceries, drug stores, hotels, and department stores. One newspaper said a survey disclosed the new beer had put about 10,000 persons to work in Illinois and that the brewers would spend over $9,000,000 in new equipment.

Nickel beers, however, were few and far between, most places charging 10 to 15 cents for a glass or a stein, with the bottled goods running higher.

CAPITAL CELEBRATION

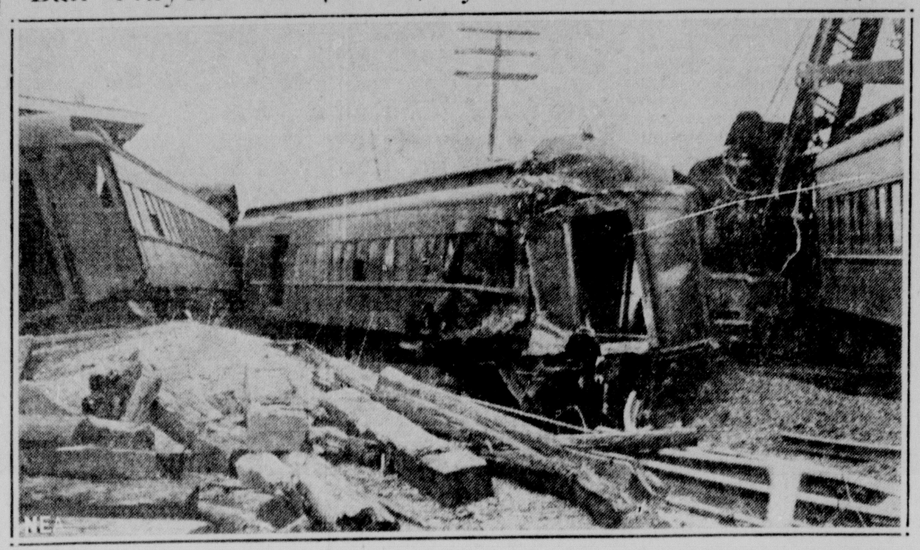
Washington, April 7—(AP)—Noisy throngs crowded Pennsylvania and West Executive avenues outside the White House. At 11:05 P. M. (CST) a brightly festooned truck, piled high with beer cases, roared up under police escort. The crowd's cheering rose to a shout. Beer was back.

Photographers' flashlights pierced the damp, murky night air. Truckmen posed, bottled beer in hand. As the crowd's yelling swelled anew. Two specially wrapped cases were delivered to White House police at the mansion's tradesmen's entrance.

President Roosevelt, who fifteen days ago fulfilled a campaign pledge by signing the 3.2 beer bill, and members of his family had retired. He had promised the beer to the newspapermen stationed at the White House.

A Marine rode on the truck from the Abner Drury brewery. As soon as the vehicle had paused men on the truck bean passing out bottles to those jammed around it There was a rush and police stepped in to keep things in hand.

Ball Players Escape Injury in Fatal Train Plunge



Members of the Boston Red Sox baseball club narrowly escaped injury or death when the Pennsylvania night express from Norfolk, Va., to New York, on which they were passengers, plunged through an open switch at Wyoming, Del., with the result pictured here. Engineer and fireman were killed and seven passengers injured, none seriously.

Brief Summary of Last Night's News

(By The Associated Press)

Chicago—Police staged a one day investigation of alleged rackets and when they had completed 17 men and four women were under arrest. Twelve were named at headquarters of the Chicago Service Station Operators' Protective Association after a non-member had complained that a reputed agent of the organization had attempted to coerce him into membership. Nine others were seized by State's Attroney's police on charges of attempting to gain control of the scavenger business.

Washington—A telegram sent to heads of Illinois state departments by Charles F. Thompson, representing Governor Horner, said 5000 men would be employed in the state on projects of President Roosevelt's reforestation program. The message asked department heads to coordinate their program of projects.

Chicago—Cook county relief officials said applications for help were decreasing this year as compared to 1932 and that the reason was either due to increasing employment or that requests for aid were being more closely scrutinized.

Elgin—A charge of murder rested against 18-year-old Earl Miller as a result of the death of Arthur Tracy, 24. Miller admitted, police said, that he struck Tracy with his automobile last week. He told police he merely intended to frighten Tracy as a climax to a joke between them. Tracy was a mail carrier.

Chicago—The following six banks were permitted to reopen today upon order of State Auditor Edward J. Barrett: Cowden, State Bank of Cowden; Beecher, First State Bank of Beecher; West McHenry, West McHenry State Bank; Ashton, The Ashton Bank; Rosiclare, State Bank of Rosiclaire; and Gridley, State Bank of Gridley.

Chicago — Announcement was made that memorial services honoring Rear Admiral A. Moffett, who lost his life in the Akron disaster, would be held Sunday at the Naval Armory.

Washington — Representative Dirksen of Illinois said he would attempt to bring Paul Beshers of Gridley, Ill., to the Capital to appear at a hearing before the Ways and Means committee of the House on the blending of alcohol with gasoline. Beshers is the originator of the plan. Representatives of Illinois, Iowa and Indiana attended a conference at which it was decided to attempt to push legislation for the blending at this session. The hearing, Dirksen said, probably would be held about April 24.

Chicago—As result of the death of Mrs. Ruth Baccus, 40, Stockton, Ill., a Coroner's mittimus charged Dr. Frank L. Nathanson, 50, with murder as result of an alleged illegal operation. Nathanson was arrested.

Chicago—Seven children were bequeathed $5,000 each and three sisters $10,000 each in the will of the late Mrs. Virginia Donnehy, disposing of an estate valued at $1,000,000, filed in Probate Court. The balance was left in trust with the income to go to the husband.

Regrets

An exchange tells of a widow who has had so much trouble with lawyers in settling the estate that she sometimes wishes her husband hadn't died.—Florence (Ala.) Herald.

AMBOY AFFAIRS

By Mary Grissom

Amboy — Nineteen rural school pupils took the central examinations at the high school at Amboy Wednesday under the supervision of County Superintendent L. W. Miller of Dixon. The group gathered at Amboy was the largest number to gather during the two weeks period of exams for any one date.

Edward Dunphy a student at the University of Illinois underwent an operation for appendicitis at Champaign the past week. He is an Amboy lad, and a graduate of the local high school.

Mrs. Wilda Harrowell is on "special duty" at the Amboy hospital, caring for Jimmy Bates, who is very ill, having underwent a mastoid operation on Tuesday afternoon. His condition, though still critical, is gradually improving.

The Woman's Club will meet in the Library on next Monday.

Miss Marion Virgil a student nurse at the Grant hospital in Chicago is spending her vacation at the Harry Longman home here

Dr. Cordell Woods of Waukesha Wis., was a professional caller at the local hospital last Saturday.

Mrs. Anna Lightner is spending a few days in Dixon at the home of Frank Perry and family.

Miss Marie Ross has resumed her duties at the Amboy News office. She has been taking a forced vacation, due to sickness, for the past three months.

Mrs. Nathan Gates Tuthill, Mrs Marian P. Naber and Mrs. Abbie W. Phillips of Chicago and Mrs. D. M. Perkins and son, Wayne, of Urbana and Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Mathews and daughter of Urbana, were here to attend the funeral of Mrs. Margaret Luce.

Miss Edith Garret left the Amboy hospital Wednesday much improved in health.

Mrs. Jennie Woods returned home Saturday from Waukesha, Wis., where she had been visiting her son, Dr. Cordell Woods for a few weeks.

Mrs. Frank C. Vaughan, who fell a few weeks ago and severely fractured her arm, was able to leave the hospital Tuesday.

Fifteen contestants representing the four classes will compete for the trophy in the final declamatory contest which is to be held Friday evening, in the auditorium of the local high school, at 7:30.

At this time, the winners in each class will give their declamations, including humorous, dramatic, orations, and extemporaneous speaking. The class receiving the greatest number of points wins the trophy, which is to be a lovely silver cup. The student placing first will score five points for his class, and the one receiving second will score three points.

Students taking part have been working for weeks under the direction of various faculty members. This will be the second contest in which these students have taken part. The program is open to the public.

The following is the program:

ORATIONS—

Winston Edwards, "The Centennial of the Birth of O'Connel."

Edward Mickey—"Hopes."

Francis Duffy, "President Roosevelt's Inaugural Address."

Doris Alshouse, 'Paradox of Peace'

Extemporaneous speakers, who are Philip Hammond, Byron Thier and Jack Bates, will speak on topics which will be assigned to them just before the program.

ROCHELLE NEWS

By Arthur T. Guest

Rochelle—Clair Breckenridge has moved from the McDermott building on Meridian Highway to the C. C. Brenner building on Second Ave.

Mr. Breckenrdige is considered one of Rochelle's most skilled auto mechanics. He has a complete outfit for repairing and servicing all makes of machines and is ready to do work promptly and at reasonable cost.

W. B. Sechler, one of Rochelle's substantial citizens and for many years constable of Flagg township, died Thursday morning following a stroke of paralysis which he suffered on Monday. He was re-elected to the office of constable at Tuesday's election. He leaves a daughter, Mrs. A. M. Zimmerman with whom he made his home.

Thursday and Friday, April 13 and 14, have been set aside for the teachers to visit other schools.

The Rochelle grade schools presented their annual spring program in the gymnasium of the township high school Thursday afternoon, over 400 children participating.

At this time the children are dismissed from school. Many parents, planning short trips or vacations, cooperate with the schools by taking advantage of this short intermission from school duties.

The Camp Fire Girls are working on advancement of ranks and within the next month will have a Grand Council Fire where they will receive rank and honor awards. At the present time, the symbol design on headbands and ceremonial gown decorations is being completed. The ceremonial gown holds the record of the girl's life in this organization.

The weenie roast scheduled for Wednesday evening was called off because of the weather. The girls will have this at a future date.

On March 17 the Camp Fire Girls presented a program to the general assembly. The girls, working under the direction of Miss Garland Lind, presented twenty scenes that represented the program at a regular summer camp. In dialog and song the girls illustrated the beauty of life in nature's out of doors. The entire program was very effective and delighted both children and visiting parents.

Remaining projects on the general assembly programs of the Junior high school for the year include:

Apr. 7—7B Home Room—Rhoads.

May 5—Orchestra—Floyd Ohlson.

May 12—Manners and Conduct—Helen Stegmeir.

On Mar. 24 the sixth grade of the Central school, Miss Ethel Stein teacher, presented a Health Program to the general assembly. Their program took the form of a health project and was illustrated in a very effective way.

On March 31 Miss Helen Stegmeir was in charge of a "sing."

FOR SPRING LAKE

Washington, April 6 —(AP)— Rep. Everett M. Dirksen, Republican of Pekin, Ill., said today he intended to return within the next few days for a further conference with Secretary Wallace of the Agriculture Department on the proposal to rehabilitate Spring Lake, in Tazewell county, and turn it into a game refuge.

"Mr. Wallace was much impressed with the idea," he said, "and it was his suggestion that I return again."

American-operated airlines carried 540,680 passengers during 1932, an increase of 18,000 over the previous year.

Two English automobile manufacturers are selling their products in Canada, and a third is negotiating for sales connections.

Resources of North Carolina state banks were increased about $5,000,000 during the last quarter of 1932, says the state banking department.

It's great to feel fit!
Everybody has days when every waking hour is packed with zest of living. Why not make every day like this?
A frequent drawback to fitness is constipation. It may dull your energy, steal your appetite, lower your vitality. Yet it is so easy to overcome.
Try eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Science shows this delicious cereal supplies "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to promote appetite, and tone the intestinal tract.
The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. How much safer than taking patent medicines—so often harmful.
Two tablespoonfuls daily will correct most types of constipation. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.
Kellogg's ALL-BRAN
ALL-BRAN has iron for the blood. At all grocers. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Washington in Contempt

Drums in Warfare

Drums were first used in warfare on English soil, probably at the battle of Halidon Hill, in 1333. When Henry VIII entered Boulogne, in 1544, drums led the way, indicating that they were then included in state ceremonials.

VISITORS FROM OUT OF TOWN AT DIXON MEETING

Rockford And Oglesby Delegations Here For Revival

Two delegations, one from Oglesby and the other from Rockford, were present at the Centrell meetings at the tabernacle last night. The Oglesby delegation was headed by Rev. Fred Harris, pastor of the Baptist church. He had with him his men's chorus who favored the audience with a special number, Dr. Hildebrand, pastor of the State Street Baptist church of Rockford had his large chorus choir with him. They sang a special anthem which was greatly enjoyed by the large audience. Dr. Hildebrand also led in the devotional service. The arrival of these two delegations added much enthusiasm to the service.

The largest audience since last Sunday night was out last night to greet evangelists Cantrell and McKee. Both men were in a most happy mood and their spirit was contagious. Everybody joined heartily in the song service. Arthur McKee is a master leader and knows how to bring the gospel message effectively to his audience through the medium of sacred music. He sang two special solos last evening.

Changed Subject

Rev. Cantrell changed his subject for the evening from the one announced and preached upon the topic, "How to Please God." He said in part:

"It is not the fact that we are here tonight, nor that we are good or moral or that we possess any amount of good qualifications that enable us to please God. We are here because we want to please Him, but that fact is not the most important. In Hebrews, 11:6 He says, Without faith it is impossible to be well pleasing unto Him. Let us reverse this statement and we find that it is faith that pleases God. Our faith is back of what we do.

Abraham's Faith

"It was said of Abraham that he believed God and it was reckoned unto him for righteousness. When God appeared to Abraham in Ur of Chaldea and said, 'Abram, get thee out of thy country and from thy kin and come to a land that I will show thee,' Abraham did not waste any time but started out. God promised him that he would make him the father of a great nation with descendants as numerous as the stars of Heaven or the sands of the seashore. He did not doubt although he as yet had no child and he was an old man. God promised to bless him and make him a blessing for all the nations. It was his great faith that made him well pleasing to God."

Blessings According to Faith

"'According to your faith, be it unto you', said Jesus. If you believe you can take a piece of patoto and put it in the ground and in three months get a whole hat full of potatoes or ten, just as you desire. We can have as great a revival here as we have faith to prepare for. The trouble with so many of us is that while God is pouring out his blessings by the basketball we are going out with thimbles to catch them.

"Another hindrance to our enjoyment of God's favor is that we get too wise. The reason Santa Clause quit coming to us that we became too wise, didn't believe in him any more, didn't hang up our stockings any more. If I hadn't got so wise, he'd be coming yet. Some people get too wise to believe in the miracles of the Bible and lose faith in Christ and God and everything else. As a result nothing happens in their lives to give them satisfaction, or an evidence of God's presence. It is only to the pure in heart and to the simple trustful heart like that of a little child, that God can make his presence and power real.

Stanley and Livingston

"James Gordon Bennett, the millionaire publisher, summoned Captain Stanley to him at his hotel in Paris. When Stanley arrived at his room he entered and saluted. Bennett was looking over a map of Africa and did not look up. Then he said, 'Captain Stanley Livingston is somewhere in Africa. Go find him.' He looked up and smiled and handed Stanley a bank book on the Bank of England and said, 'Draw on me for all you need.' Stanley declared afterward that it was this provision that Bennett made for him in supplying unlimited funds that enabled him to concentrate upon one task and to be able to find Livingston in nine months. Christ said, "All authority in heaven and on earth is given unto thee. Go disciple the nations." Then he put unlimited capital in our hands by adding, 'Lo, I am with you unto the end of the world."

Rev. Cantrell brought his discourse to a close by a dramatic representation of the test of Abraham's faith in the sacrifice of Isaac. Following the sermon, Mr. McKee sang a verse of "Faith of Our Fathers" and pronounced the benediction.

Mr. McKee announced a children's meeting for 4:00 this afternoon at the tabernacle. He and Mrs. McKee will have charge of the meeting and invite all boys and girls from six to sixteen to be present. A children's chorus will fill the choir platform and lead in the music Saturday night which will be family night. A lovely Bible will be presented to the largest family present.

The young people's meeting held last evening was one of the best of the series. There will be a big union young people's meeting at the Christian church at 6:00 on Sunday evening. Mrs. McKee will address the young people. Several cottage prayer meetings were held Thursday morning and were well attended.

Rev. Cantrell will discuss the "Amusement Problem" tonight. This is a theme that always attracts a large crowd and it is expected that the largest crowd of the week will turn out tonight. There will be an afternoon service Sunday for everybody and the regular evening service at 7:30 Sunday.

It has been learned that a distinguished visitor will be present tonight in the person of Rev. H. H. Peters of Bloomington, State Secretary of the Illinois Christian Missionary Society. Rev. Peters was formerly pastor of the First Christian church of this city.

Sun Will Be Colder During Next Two Years

Washington, April 7—(AP)—A prediction that the sun will be colder for the next two years, with the possibility the earth will be affected in a way as yet unknown, was issued today by the Smithsonian Institution.

For the next 24 months, said Dr. Charles G. Abbot, Secretary of the Institution, the heat that issues from the sun and makes life possible on earth will be somewhat below normal. This does not necessarily mean that the earth will have two cold years, for earthly weather is affected by many influences besides the sun's heat. However, it is believed the cold years on the sun must have some effect on the earth, though what it will be is unpredictable.

Dr. Abbot already has had some success as a predictor of the sun's "weather." In 1930 he forecast two warm years on the sun, which in general has been fulfilled. Measurements have shown that the sun has been giving out considerably more heat than normal since then.

The long-range predictions of warm and cold periods on the sun are first steps toward a goal of accurate long-range weather forecasts for the earth.

law. But fearing that the Treasurer, who was absent much of the time, might fail to file such levy, the board caused another one to be filed direct with the Clerk, on the proper day, but as it had not been previously filed with the Treasurer this one was of no effect and did no harm.

But here a singular circumstance appeared. The proper and lawful certificate was seen afterwards in the office of the County Clerk, pinned to the improper one. The Clerk had pinned them together on the day of filing. But when months later, about 18 months, the case came on for trial the proper certificate had most mysterlousiy disappeared. Of course no one friendly to the district would have had any hand in such removal. Only some one hostile to the tax could have had any such interest.

When the original objections were filed there was no claim that no proper levy had been made, as attorneys for the objectors had seen the two certificates. And at the trial there was no effort made to amend the objections to cover this point. Hence it is claimed that the court was without power to consider this matter.

If it is true that "hi-jacking" a tax levy certificate in this way can be used to defeat the collection of a tax regularly levied and assessed a precedent will be established for similar raids by dissatisfied taxpayers in other matters.

To Appeal Decision

None of the other objections to the tax were considered by the court and the district has arranged to appeal the decision.

It is claimed that in other respects the news item is incorrect and very misleading. While it was objected that no vote had authorized the building of a school house, in fact at two elections it had been voted by a large majority to cause such school house to be built. On April 25, 1931 it was so voted 144 votes for and 80 against. Again, on August 8, 1931, a similar election was held and for the further purpose of selecting a designated site and it was voted 167 votes for and 87 votes against. So that it is the evident that a large majority of the voters have desired a school.

Most of the objections to such taxes have come from persons owning land in the district, but not living there.

At the election to be held Saturday the only member whose term is expiring is Harry B. Eaton, president of the board, and his re-election is being opposed. The offices of A. F. Jeanblanc, as secretary, and of C. W. Rockwood, as treasurer, are not involved in this election at all, contrary to the statement in this paper now being criticized. Mr. Rockwood does not even live in the district.

While the article in question states that if new members are elected to the board the school will be dropped, yet if they do so they will be violating the law, as they cannot accept offices in the district and still fight it.

Over $600 of taxes have been paid in under the levy to which objections have been sustained, by persons favorable to the maintenance of the school. In some cases children or near relatives of objectors have been attending such school and no pupils from the district are being educated at Amboy, Franklin Grove or Ashton, as erroneously stated in such article.

There are at least 10,000 earthquakes a year in the world, according to scientists.

On clear days, the cathedral of St. Isaacs, in Leningrad, can be seen for 20 miles down the Gulf of Finland.

Bradley And Graydon Moll In Rochelle Dist. Contest

This morning's general assembly session at the high school, was under the direction of the Pep committee of the Senior Boy's Honor Club. William Barthelmes, William Smith and Graydon Moll compose the organization in company with representatives of each class: Anne Davies, Senior; Junior Blimling, junior; Betty Nichols, sophomore and Betty Merriman, freshman. The first general assembly program was as follows:

Piano selections—Doris Beech.
Violin selection— Jewel Auman.
Vocal solo—Emma Stein.
Popular songs —Leon Morton.
Cornet solo—Harold Goeke.
Quartette selections —Elizabeth Ford, Emma Stein, William Smith and William Barthelmes.

Prof. John Weiss of the agricultural department at the opening of the program presented the Future Farmers of America trophy. This honor was awarded to the Dixon high school by the state organization in recognition of the two national championship judging teams of 1928 and 1932. Principal B. J. Frazer received the plaque, on which is engraved the names of the members of the teams.

Made Plans For Year

Plans for the senior year book were also presented at this session.

Last evening in the music room the Math club held its monthly meeting. George Prescott and Bradley Moll were the speakers.

In Rochelle this afternoon the N. C. I. C. public speaking contests will be presented Bradley Moll and Graydon Moll are the contestants from the Dixon high school. In 1930 Winston Smith was the winner of the oratorical contest, 1931 saw Charles Carrol the victor and last year William Smith won the honors. This gives Dixon a three year span on championships. Smith's victory last year made him eligible for the present contest but he has chosen to enter the district event.

Braydon Moll's oration subject will be, "The New South," by H. W. Grady. Graydon Moll is an entrant in the extemporaneous contest.

Until Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock the seniors are eligible to file petitions to become candidates for the several city offices in the second annual civics events. The primaries will be held April 14. Each petition must be signed by 25 students.

On Thursday and Friday the home rooms were scenes of much activity as the civics project was explained to the student body. The selected officials will handle the city's government by proxy on Saturday, April 29.

A BOOK A DAY

THE ERA OF THE AZTECS
By Bruce Catton

History holds few more fascinating tales than the story of the civilization which the Indians erected in Mexico just before the Spanish conquest.

Here, truly, was one of the most bizarre and romantic human societies ever put together—a cruel and bloody era which built towering temples and flowered cities, a people whose development seemed to be taking a course unlike any other ever attempted. For some of us, at least, the story of pre-conquest Mexico is one of the most interesting tales there is.

"Mexico Before Cortez," by J. Eric Thompson, gives a very good description of the details of life in the old Aztec empire.

Mr. Thompson provides the answers to a lot of those questions which so many archaeologists ignore. He tells us, for instance, what the people's homes were like, what they had to eat and wear, how they worked and played, what kind of holidays they celebrated and what sort of life they had generally. He includes in his book a wealth of photographs to illustrate the points he makes, and describes the astoundingly bloody Aztec religion, with its frightful list of human sacrifices, so that it actually becomes understandable.

He gives, in short, a most excellent summary of the whole Aztec civilization; and it becomes, not something romantic and unreal out of an old book of marvels, but a comprehensible society formed by real human beings.

Three hundred species of mushrooms were shown at a recent exhibition. A North African variety stood two feet high. Some of the others were so large that one mushroom would be more than a meal for a man.

Henry VIII of England once gave a banquet at which the first course was served at five o'clock in the afternoon and the last at three o'clock next morning.

Lake Naivasha, in East Africa, is 17 miles long, 12 miles wide, and has no visible outlet, being entirely surrounded by mountains. It never floods, although there are two rivers which daily pour into it more water than is taken away by surface evaporation.

Richard Trevethick, a Cornish engineer, constructed the first steam carriage running on rails 10 years before George Stephenson constructed the first locomotive in 1814.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JANET HILL breaks her engagement to ROLF CARLYLE when she learns he has been paying attentions to BETTY KENDALL, wealthy society girl. Janet, 23, is secretary to BRUCE HAMILTON, advertising manager of Every Home Magazine. She still loves Rolf.

JEFF GRANT, young engineer, saves her purse from a holdup man and she and Jeff become friends. When she learns Rolf has eloped with Betty she tells Jeff about her broken engagement and says she can never care for anyone else.

Hamilton leaves the magazine and secures a job for Janet as social secretary to his sister, MRS. CURTIS. It is several days before Janet learns Mrs. Curtis is Betty Kendall's mother.

Rolf and Betty return from their honeymoon. Janet feels she should go away but circumstances prevent. The young couple move into their own apartment and, after one encounter, Janet seldom sees Rolf.

Mrs. Curtis decides to go to Silver Bay, a lake resort, and takes Janet with her. They stay a month. Several days after their return Janet meets Rolf on the street. He takes her arm and says, "You're coming with me!"

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXVIII

JANET stood still. "But where are you going?" she asked.

"It doesn't matter," Rolf told her. "Anywhere! I just want to talk to you, that's all. Heard you were back and I've been wanting to see you."

"But Rolf—!"

"Are you going to say you won't talk to me? Well, I hadn't expected that. Of course if you feel that way—!"

She glanced at him, then looked away quickly. "But we can't," she said. "I mean—what did you want to talk about?"

"I can't very well tell you standing in the middle of the sidewalk, can I? Come on. We'll drop in at Stanley's."

Stanley's restaurant in the next block was one of the most fashionable in Lancaster. Betty Carlyle and her friends often lunched there. Janet knew she couldn't go there with Rolf.

She said, "I'm sorry but really I can't. Mrs. Curtis is expecting me."

His eyes met hers directly. "That's an excuse, isn't it?" he said. "There's some reason why you don't want to come. The same reason, I suppose, why you've been avoiding me for so long. I thought it was agreed between us that we were going to be friends."

Janet felt conspicuous standing there on the street. She said, "Let's walk along. I'm on my way to take a bus."

"That's not an answer," Rolf objected as they moved along, side by side.

She refused to meet his eyes. "Of course we're friends," she told him in a voice that was not as steady as it should have been. "At least I want to be."

He laughed rather unpleasantly. "Only you'd rather never see me, is that it?"

"You know that's not so, Rolf! It's just that—well, I think it's better for us not to see each other. You remember what Betty thought that night she came to the house? I don't want to cause any trouble!"

"So that's it!" There was a pause and then Rolf went on more seriously. "But I really do want to talk to you, Janet. It's important! I've got to talk to you. Listen, will you meet me this evening—"

"I can't do that!" Janet interrupted quickly.

* * *

THE man went on as though he had not heard her. "Will you meet me at nine o'clock?" he asked. "I'll come to the oak tree back of the house."

"But you mustn't ask me to do that, Rolf. I can't!"

"At nine o'clock tonight," he repeated. "At the oak tree."

The yellow bus appeared at the corner a block away. Janet saw it with a wave of thankfulness. "I won't be there," she told him firmly. "There's no use of you coming!"

He said, "I'll be waiting for you," and touched his hat as the bus came to a halt.

Janet stepped into the vehicle and found a seat. She knew that her cheeks were flushed and her heart was pounding furiously. "But I won't go!" she told herself over and over again. "If he comes I won't be there!"

Well, that was settled and settled in the right way. Rolf should know that it would never do for them to meet secretly. She wondered what he wanted to talk to her about. Not that it would make any difference. She reviewed the conversation, assured herself that her attitude had been the right one. But what was Rolf so anxious to talk to her about?

A dozen times during the afternoon that same question arose. Once back in the big brick house she felt secure again. There was no use denying that seeing Rolf had been a temptation. It was a temptation but she had risen above it. It was a comfortable feeling to know that she had been able to master the situation.

She could be very calm about the whole affair now. If Rolf came he would simply find that he had been foolish. Janet knew that she would spend the evening with Mrs. Curtis, either reading to her or possibly playing cards. There was a new game Mrs. Curtis had learned at Silver Bay of which she was very fond. Even if Janet had not decided against it, it would be quite impossible for her to meet Rolf.

* * *

AND then something happened to jolt her assurance. The evening began just as Janet had been sure it would. She and Mrs. Curtis had dinner and afterward their coffee was served in the living room. They were still sitting there when the telephone rang.

Janet said, "I'll answer," because it was Lucy's night off. She arose and went into the library.

A moment later she was back to say that Mrs. Thornton was calling to ask if Mrs. Curtis would like to see the new picture at the Century. If she would the Thorntons would stop for her in 20 minutes.

"Why, of course!" Mrs. Curtis exclaimed. "Tell her—no, wait! I'll go myself."

At 10 minutes after eight the bell rang and Janet answered. Mr. and Mrs. Thornton entered and at the same moment Mrs. Curtis, wearing hat and coat, came hurrying down the stairs.

"I'm all ready," she said. "I'm so glad you telephoned! We'd better go right along, I suppose. Goodby, Janet—"

They were off in a whirl of chiffon and lilac perfume and the heavy scent of Mr. Thornton's cigar. Janet stood for a moment and watched the car drive away. Then she went back to the living room and turned on the radio.

A dance orchestra, playing one of the tunes she had heard often at Silver Bay, came on the air. Listening, Janet felt irritated and snapped off the switch. The song died in the midst of a plaintive tenor chorus.

Janet picked up a magazine and tried to read. The words parading before her eyes were meaningless. She could not keep her attention on them. The house seemed quiet. So quiet she could hear the tick of the clock across the room. Janet glanced at it. Twenty minutes of nine.

In 20 minutes more Rolf would be there. Janet tried again to read. She mustn't think about Rolf. She wouldn't go to meet him, of course. That was out of the question.

She looked at the printed page and thought, "I didn't try to make things happen the way they have. It's not my fault."

But it would be her fault if she went out the side door and down the flagstone walk to the oak tree. There would be no one else to take the blame for that.

* * *

IT was 18 minutes now. And now 17. How fearfully quiet the house was! Not a sound except the clock. Not a sound? Oh, yes there was—there was the beating of Janet's heart. She could feel it drumming away so noisily that if anyone else had been in the room they must surely have heard it, too. The clock and the steadily pounding heart kept up a sort of duet.

Janet rose and moved about the room restlessly. She thought, "He said it was important. I wonder what he wants. Perhaps it really is important."

And then quickly, "But it can't make any difference! I told him I couldn't see him!"

Impulsively she turned to the radio again, tuned in a noisy orchestra and let the brassy notes fill the room. It was hideous but it was better than the silence. The sound seemed to steady her. No, she would not go to meet Rolf.

* * *

IT was 10 minutes after nine when she stepped out of the house. A few more nights and the moon would be a complete golden circle. It shone down brightly on a crooked patch of the lawn. The rest was shadowed by trees and the hedge at one side of the house.

Janet closed the door behind her and waited. There was no one in sight. The oak tree on the right was a mass of shadows. No, Rolf had not come. He had taken her at her word.

She hesitated a moment, staring at the patch of moonlight and the blackness beyond. All at once she saw the figure moving, slowly coming toward her. She heard a voice call softly, "Janet!" and knew it was Rolf.

"I can only stay a moment," she said when she was beside him. "What is it you want?"

There was barely light enough for her to make out his face. "Perhaps to see if you would come!" he said.

"Then I'll have to go!"

His hand was on her arm. "No, Janet—please! You can't go now. I really do want to talk to you!"

"Well, then?"

The hand on her arm tightened. "Janet!" the man repeated the name softly. "You're looking very sweet, do you know it?" All at once his arm was around her. She had no will to stop him, even if she could have. Rolf caught her to him and his lips found hers.

GOOD THOUGHTS

It is sometimes asked whether prayer is of any avail to mankind in their struggles to overcome the besetments of evil. To this it may be replied that prayer is one of the necessities of our being, as all discover sooner or later. We may pray for existence without some attempt well or pray ill, but pray we must, to reach up to God is unthinkable.
—Christian Science Sentinel

Be careful for nothing; but in everything by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God. And the peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus.

Prayer is not conquering God's reluctance, but taking hold of God's willingness.

To pray together, in whatever tongue or ritual, is the most tender brotherhood of hope and sympathy that men can contract in this life.

Prayer is the soul's sincere desire,
Uttered or unexpressed,
The motion of a hidden fire
That trembles in the breast.
—Montgomery

I have been driven many times to my knees, by the overwhelming conviction that I had nowhere else to go. My own wisdom, and that of all about me seemed insufficient for that day.

Sidelights In News In Capital Of United States

By HERBERT PLUMMER

WASHINGTON—Uncle Sam's future ambassadors extraordinary and ministers plenipotentiary are being put through their paces by experts at the state department these days in preparation for strenuous days ahead. They're going to school each day at the department.

Tucked away at a desk in the division of Mexican affairs is Josephus Daniels, Ambasador to Mexico. The former Secretary of the Navy has been digging away for days at piles of diplomatic correspondence on Mexico. His tutor is Herschel Johnson, chief of the Mexican division of the state Department.

In the division of Western European affairs two men are plugging away learning all they can about their jobs. One is Jesse Straus, Ambassador to France and the other is Robert W. Bingham, Ambassador to the Court of St. Jame's.

TEACHERS APLENTY—

Ambassador Straus has two tutors. Allan Winslow and Paul Culbertson, both experts on France, have him in charge. John Minter the departmental expert on Great Britain, is Ambassador Bingham's tutor.

New Ambassadors and Ministers are permitted under the law to spend at least 30 days from the time of their appointment in studying their future posts.

Most of this time is spent in delving into files of correspondence. Records of the achievements of former envoys, and their failures, are carefully preserved by the state department. Pending diplomatic business must be gone over carefully as well.

Once the future Ambassadors have acquired detailed information on their posts, they pass on to another tutor—in this instance to Warren Delano Robbins, chief of the division of protocol.

THEN 'GRADUATION' —

Then comes the final step when the Envoy, so to speak, gets his diploma from the state department "school." He has an audience with the Secretary of State.

With him are discussed the policies to be followed by the administration. There is little of detailed information imparted to him by the Secretary. He is supposed to have gotten that already. After a discussion of future policies in their broadest sense, the Ambassador fares forth—supposedly a full-fledged diplomat.

Saved at Sea

Quite a number of believers in disarmament think that there are prospects that their hopes will be realized.

It is a very simple matter to pass destructive criticism, and it is far from our desire to belittle the efforts of those who are now engaged in the pursuit of an ideal which, if it could be realized, would be welcomed by every sane man and woman in the world.

But the world today is not in a mood to listen to the preachings of a handful of idealists. All nations are confronted with the same problem—the problem of existence. And out of that problem rises fear and distrust.

The disarmament problem is a long way from agreement between nations. It is up in the air and is likely to remain so until human nature undergoes a radical change.

Only ICE

Protects Food from Impure Air.

Your Social Prestige, Popularity and Success Is Relative. You Should Know Both Sides of Important Subjects.

Ice preserves food nearest to its natural condition, because ice releases moisture and makes food taste better.

Filament of water on ice absorbs food gases, bacteria, odors, and other foreign matter, which is carried down and out the drain.

Science proves that water absorbs gas.

Liquids or foods left uncovered do not dry out, or dehydrate; there are no wasted foods or lost flavors.

Foods properly placed in any ice refrigerator do not transfer odors; no hydrator necessary.

No loss in weight or natural flavor of meats by drying. Ice will not cause a discoloration of meats.

Meats kept with ice are tender and have a natural flavor.

No need to cover foods or bottle liquids.

All the ice you need when you want it.

Low first cost and lower operating cost.
